1.0 Inspector of Mental Health Services – Review of Findings

Inspector of Mental Health Services

Dr Susan Finnerty

This inspection was carried out during the COVID-19 pandemic. Due to public health restrictions, certain activities within approved centres were not able to take place. The inspectors have taken these restrictions into account when assessing compliance with Regulations, Rules and Codes of Practice.

In line with Public Health Guidance, the inspectors restricted the amount of time spent in resident areas of the approved centre. Because of this, only compliance with Regulations, Rules and Codes of Practice was assessed, as required by the Mental Health Act 2001, and quality ratings have not been included.

In brief

Willow Grove Adolescent Unit (WGAU) was a 14-bed dedicated, standalone unit located within the grounds of St. Patrick's Hospital and forming part of St. Patrick's Mental Health Service (SPMHS). The unit operated independently to the adult service. It provided treatment to young people aged from 12 to 17 from all over Ireland. There was a school attached to the unit.

Compliance Summary	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021

Regulations Rated Excellent	24	24	25	N/A	N/A

The average rate of compliance across all approved centres in 2020 was 87%. The approved centre maintained 100% with regulation.

Conditions to registration

There were no escalation and enforcement action since the previous inspection

Escalation and enforcement actions since this inspection

There were no escalation and enforcement action since this inspection

Safety in the approved centre

We found that the approved centre operated safe practices which reduced risk of harm and that effective systems were in place to safeguard young people.

- Individual risk assessments were completed at admission to identify individual risk factors, including general health risks, risk of absconding, and risk of self-harm.
- The numbers and skill mix of staffing were sufficient to meet resident needs and an appropriately qualified staff member was on duty and in charge at all times.
- There was a minimisation of ligature points to the lowest practicable level.
- Hazards, such as slippery floors, trip hazards, hard and sharp edges, and hard or rough surfaces, were minimised in the approved centre.
- Medication was ordered, prescribed, stored, and administered in a secure and safe manner.
- Kitchen areas were clean and there was sufficient storage, preparation areas and refrigeration facilities.

Appropriate care and treatment of residents

We found that that staff provided therapeutic activities and physical health care appropriate to needs of young people.

- Each resident had a multidisciplinary care plan which was developed and reviewed in collaboration with the resident. There were clearly defined goals with associated interventions and resourcing in place for each resident.
- The residents had access to psychology groups, drama, dance, psychoeducation - self-esteem, assertiveness, and relaxation groups, Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) mindfulness and sensory groups. At the time of the inspection external therapeutic services provided drama virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Residents received appropriate general health care interventions in line with individual care plans. The residents had access to a GP through the main hospital campus and the GP visited the approved centre when required.

Respect for residents' privacy, dignity, and autonomy

We found that the approved centre provided services in a way that respected young persons' privacy, dignity, and autonomy.

- All bedrooms were single and included en suite and shower facilities.
- All bathrooms, showers, toilets, and single bedrooms had locks on the inside of the door, unless there was an identified risk to a resident
- Noticeboards did not display resident names or other identifiable information.
- Residents were facilitated to make private phone calls.
- The approved centre was kept in a good state of repair externally and internally.
- The approved centre was clean, hygienic, and free from offensive odours.
- There was a visiting room where residents could meet their visitors in private.
- Staff treated and communicated with young people in a respectful manner.

Responsiveness to residents' needs

We found that the approved centre provided services in a way that met the needs of young people.

- Residents had access to table tennis, badminton, pool, tennis, dancing, yoga, gym exercise equipment, arts and crafts, tie dye, pottery, computer games, musical instruments, gardening, board games, watching movies, quiz, jewellery making, baking, and reading, and listening to music.
- The approved centre provided access to recreational activities on weekdays and during the weekend.
- The information booklet was clearly and simply written. Residents were provided with the details of their multi-disciplinary team and written and verbal information on diagnosis and medication.
- There was a choice of food at mealtimes.
- There was sufficient private space as well as areas for socialisation.
- There was a comprehensive complaints process in place.

Governance of the approved centre

The approved centre had a robust system of governance in place.

- Willow Grove was part of St. Patrick's Mental Health Services and was governed by the board of St. Patrick's Mental Health Services. The senior management team were responsible to the board for the direct operation of the approved centre. Governance processes made provision for the involvement of service users and their representatives and a detailed clinical and corporate governance structure was in place.
- Each head of discipline was based in the approved centre. Defined lines of responsibility were evident in each department. Key performance indicators assisted the senior management to measure how well they were doing in relation to achieving set goals.

- There was documentation throughout the service indicating evidence-based and best contemporary practice appropriate to child and adolescent mental health care. Clear systems were in place to support quality improvement.
- The senior management team (SMT) met fortnightly. Issues such as service development, health and safety, facilities, and risk management, including review of the overall risk register were discussed at these meetings. The SMT process evidenced a robust governance structure with outcomes and actions documented.
- The residents had access to advocacy services if required through Youth Advocate Programmes (YAP) Ireland. Fortnightly sessions were facilitated remotely due to the pandemic. At a local level, daily meetings with the residents, suggestion boxes, and engagement with the complaints process (both formal and informal) were the principal mechanisms evident for resident and carer involvement in the process of quality improvement.

COVID-19 response

The minutes of the SMT emphasised issues relating to the management of COVID-19 risk within the approved centre.

2.0 Quality Initiatives

The following quality initiatives were identified on this inspection:

1. Point of Care Testing (POCT) – A new initiative was introduced by the approved centre as an additional measure to assist the detection of COVID-19 as soon as possible for service users.
2. Quality Network for Inpatient CAMHS Accreditation (QNIC) – The approved centre was a member of QNIC which demonstrated and improved the quality of child and adolescent psychiatric in-patient care through a system of reviews against standards. It was a process that enabled information sharing between units.
3. Introduction of an electronic device for the purpose of video communication with families during the COVID -19 pandemic
4. The approved centre Homecare Service was named as the Mental Health Initiative of the year at the Irish healthcare Awards 2020.
5. Medication Safety Newsletter – The introduction of the newsletter was to increase awareness and knowledge of medication safety issues relevant to the centre. The aim was to reduce preventable medication incidents, enhance the medication safety culture and contribute to quality improvement.

3.0 Overview of the Approved Centre

3.1 Description of approved centre

Willow Grove Adolescent Unit (WGAU) was a dedicated, standalone unit located within the grounds of St. Patrick's Hospital and forming part of St. Patrick's Mental Health Service (SPMHS). The unit operated independently to the adult service. It provided treatment to young people aged from 12 to 17 from all over Ireland.

All bedrooms were single and included en suite and shower facilities. The unit provided therapeutic services which included counselling and clinical psychology, occupational therapy, family therapy and social work. There were adequate communal areas and young people had access to an adjacent gym and outdoor recreational facilities. There was a school attached to the unit. At the time of this inspection the school was closed for summer holidays.

The unit had accommodation for up to 14 young people. At the time of the inspection there were eight inpatients.

The resident profile on the first day of inspection was as follows:

Resident Profile
Number of registered beds	14
Total number of residents	8
Number of detained patients	0
Number of wards of court	0
Number of children	N/A
Number of residents in the approved centre for more than 6 months	0

3.2 Governance

Willow Grove was part of St. Patrick's Mental Health Services. The approved centre was governed by the board of St. Patricks Mental Health Services. The senior management team were responsible to the board for the direct operation of the approved centre. Governance processes made provision for the involvement of service users and their representatives where appropriate. A detailed clinical and corporate governance structure was in place.

The inspection team were provided with governance questionnaires by the head of clinical disciplines during the inspection process. These provided a clear overview of the governance issues and current risks within their respective departments. Each head of discipline was based in the approved centre. Defined lines of responsibility were evident in each department. Each head of discipline met with staff on a regular basis and there were clear processes for escalating issues of concern to heads of discipline and to the senior management team. The medical, nursing and psychology departments had formal staff performance appraisals in place. The occupational therapy and social work department did not have staff performance appraisals; however, this was addressed through informal supervision. All disciplines reported that their staffing numbers were currently in accordance with agreed numbers. There was documentation throughout the service indicating evidence-based and best contemporary practice appropriate to child and adolescent mental health care.

All heads of discipline had received training on clinical risk management in the approved centre and a risk register was maintained. All heads of discipline identified strategic aims for their teams and discussed potential operational risks with their departments. Key performance indicators assisted the senior management to measure how well they were doing in relation to achieving set goals. Clear systems were in place to support quality improvement.

The senior management team (SMT) met fortnightly. The minutes from these meetings were provided to the inspection team and outlined an active governance process involving senior management and, as appropriate, members of various disciplines within the approved centre. Issues such as service development, health and safety, facilities, and risk management, including review of the overall risk register were discussed at these meetings. The minutes emphasised issues relating to the management of COVID-19 risk within the approved centre. The SMT process evidenced a robust governance structure with outcomes and actions documented.

The residents had access to advocacy services if required through Youth Advocate Programmes (YAP) Ireland. Fortnightly sessions were facilitated remotely due to the pandemic. At a local level, daily meetings with the residents, suggestion boxes, and engagement with the complaints process (both formal and informal) were the principal mechanisms evident for resident and carer involvement in the process of quality improvement. No complaints had been escalated to the complaints officer since the last inspection.

3.3 Reporting on the National Clinical Guidelines

The service reported that it was cognisant of and implemented, where indicated, the National Clinical Guidelines as published by the Department of Health.

5.0 Service-user Experience

5.1 Service-user feedback

The Inspector gives emphasis to the importance of hearing the service users' experience of the approved centre. While previously the inspection team sought to engage with residents face-to-face where possible, this process has changed due to pandemic events and infection control measures. As such, service users' experiences were gathered in the following ways:

- Posters were displayed inviting the residents to talk to the inspection team.
- Residents were invited to complete a service user experience questionnaire, which were reviewed by the inspection team in confidence. This was anonymous and used to inform the inspection process.
- Residents could engage with the inspection team over the phone on any matter relating to their care whilst in the approved centre.

With the residents' permission, their experience was fed back to the senior management team. The information was used to give a general picture of residents' experience of the approved centre as outlined below.

During the inspection five questionnaires were received and one resident spoke to the inspector by telephone. The questionnaires were overall positive. One questionnaire stated that the resident did not know their Multi-Disciplinary Team. Two of the questionnaires had 'kind of' and 'sometimes' written for how happy the respondents were of how staff spoke to them. Four of the questionnaires had 'sometimes' ticked for ability to give feedback to staff and make a complaint and one had ticked 'did not know' how to make complaint. The young person who spoke to the inspection team was very positive overall about the approved centre. One resident mentioned that more access to outdoor space was needed as this was not always possible due to staff being busy.

Appendix 1 Background to the inspection process

The principal functions of the Mental Health Commission are to promote, encourage and foster the establishment and maintenance of high standards and good practices in the delivery of mental health services and to take all reasonable steps to protect the interests of persons detained in approved centres.

The Commission strives to ensure its principal legislative functions are achieved through the registration and inspection of approved centres. The process for determination of the compliance level of approved centres against the statutory regulations, rules, Mental Health Act 2001, and codes of practice shall be transparent and standardised.

Section 51(1)(a) of the Mental Health Act 2001 (the 2001 Act) states that the principal function of the Inspector shall be to “visit and inspect every approved centre at least once a year in which the commencement of this section falls and to visit and inspect any other premises where mental health services are being provided as he or she thinks appropriate”.

Section 52 of the 2001 Act states that, when making an inspection under section 51, the Inspector shall

- a) See every resident (within the meaning of Part 5) whom he or she has been requested to examine by the resident himself or herself or by any other person.
- b) See every patient the propriety of whose detention he or she has reason to doubt.
- c) Ascertain whether or not due regard is being had, in the carrying on of an approved centre or other premises where mental health services are being provided, to this Act and the provisions made thereunder.
- d) Ascertain whether any regulations made under section 66, any rules made under section 59 and 60 and the provision of Part 4 are being complied with.

Each approved centre will be assessed against all regulations, rules, codes of practice, and Part 4 of the 2001 Act as applicable, at least once on an annual basis. Inspectors will use the triangulation process of documentation review, observation, and interview to assess compliance with the requirements. Where non-compliance is determined, the risk level of the non-compliance will be assessed.

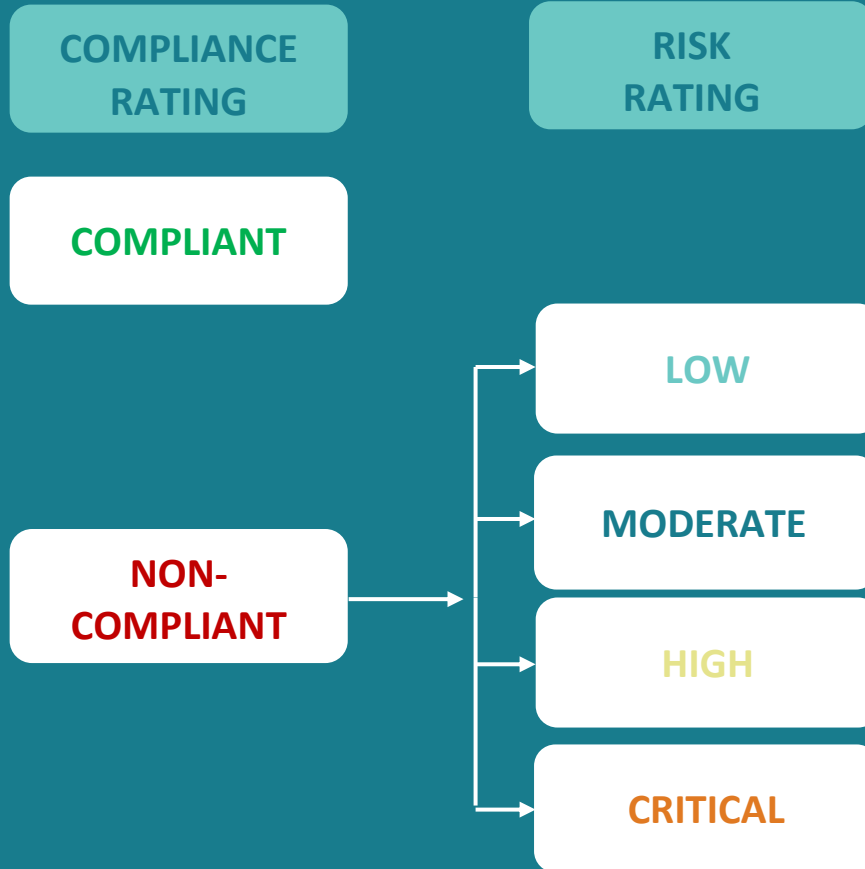

Following the inspection of an approved centre, the Inspector prepares a report on the findings of the inspection. A draft of the inspection report, including provisional compliance ratings and risk ratings, is provided to the registered proprietor of the approved centre. Areas of inspection are deemed to be either compliant or non-compliant and where non-compliant, risk is rated as low, moderate, high, or critical.

COMPLIANCE AND RISK RATINGS

The following ratings are assigned to areas inspected:

COMPLIANCE RATINGS are given for all areas inspected.

RISK RATINGS are given for any area that is deemed non-compliant.

The registered proprietor is given an opportunity to review the draft report and comment on any of the content or findings. The Inspector will take into account the comments by the registered proprietor and amend the report as appropriate.

The registered proprietor is requested to provide a Corrective and Preventative Action (CAPA) plan for each finding of non-compliance in the draft report. Corrective actions address the specific non-compliance(s). Preventative actions mitigate the risk of the non-compliance reoccurring. CAPAs must be specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, and time-bound (SMART). The approved centre's CAPAs are included in the published inspection report, as submitted. The Commission monitors the implementation of the CAPAs on an ongoing basis and requests further information and action as necessary.

If at any point the Commission determines that the approved centre's plan to address an area of non-compliance is unacceptable, enforcement action may be taken.

In circumstances where the registered proprietor fails to comply with the requirements of the 2001 Act, Mental Health Act 2001 (Approved Centres) Regulations 2006 and Rules made under the 2001 Act, the Commission has the authority to initiate escalating enforcement actions up to, and including, removal of an approved centre from the register and the prosecution of the registered proprietor.
